Animal science students part of Freshman Leadership Experience

COLLEGE STATION – Thirty-five new students have been selected to participate in the 2009-2010 College of Agriculture and Life Sciences Freshman Leadership Experience, including 10 students majoring in animal science.

Asleigh Sowell, Grady Douglass, Daniel Olson, Andy Adams, Dustin Leiferman, Karley Kosub, Kelsey Willberg, Mai Nguyen and Zac Goodwin will participate in this program that helps students develop professionalism, appreciation for diversity, and leadership skills through service in the college and community, said Dr. Danielle Harris, assistant dean for student success and advisor for the organization.

According to the FLO website, <http://flos.tamu.edu>, “A freshman leadership organization provides opportunities for freshmen to meet other freshmen, build lasting relationships with upperclassmen, assume leadership roles within the organization, and plan both internal and external programs and events for members of the Class of 2013.”
